SCALE OF PENSIONS AND ORDERS IN COUNCIL AUTHORIZING SAME.

CERTIFIED COPY of a Report of the Committee of the Privy Council approved by His Royal Highness the Governor-General on the 29th April, 1915.

The Committee of the Privy Council, on the recommendation of the Minister of Militia and Defence, advise,—with reference to the question of providing adequate pensionary assistance for officers and men disabled or partially disabled on active service, or for the dependents of such officers and men should they be killed on active service,—that Articles 591 to 598, inclusive, of the present Pay and Allowance Regulations be cancelled and that there be substituted therefor the Regulations hereto attached.

RODOLPHE BOUDREAU

Clerk of the Privy Council.

The Honourable the Minister of Militia and Defence.

SCALE OF PENSIONS.

Articles 591 to 598 inclusive, Pay and Allowance Regulations, are cancelled and the following substituted to take effect September 1, 1914.

641. The following rates of pension will be granted Militiamen wounded or disabled on active service, during drill or training, or on other military duty, provided the disability was not due to his own fault or negligence.

Rank held at time of injury or illness.	First Degree.	Second Degree.	Third Degree.	Fourth Degree.
	$	$	$	$
Rank and file	264	192	132	75
Sergeant	336	252	168	100

Captain	1,440	1,080	720	456
Major	2,100	1,620	1,050	636
Lieut.-Colonel
Colonel
Brig.-General

(a) The first degree shall be applicable to those only who are rendered totally incapable of earning a livelihood as the result of wounds or injuries received or illness contracted in action, or in the presence of the enemy.

(b) The second degree shall be applicable to those who are rendered totally incapable of earning a livelihood as a result of injuries received or illness contracted on Active Service, during drill or training or on other duty; or are rendered materially incapable as a result of wounds or injuries received or illness contracted, in action or in the presence of the enemy.

(c) The third degree shall be applicable to those who are rendered materially incapable of earning a livelihood, as a result of injuries received or illness contracted on Active Service, during drill or training, or on other duty; or rendered in a small degree incapable as a result of wounds or injuries received, or illness contracted in action or in the presence of the enemy.

(d) The fourth degree shall be applicable to those who are rendered in a small degree incapable of earning a livelihood as a result of injuries received or illness contracted on Active Service, during drill or training, or on other duty.

(e) Where the injury is great enough to require the constant services of an attendant, such as the loss of both legs or both arms or the loss of sight of both eyes; or where the use of both legs or both arms has been permanently lost, the rates shown in columns "1st Degree" and "2nd Degree" may be increased one-third.

(f) In addition to the above rates, a married officer, warrant officer, non-commissioned officer, or man, totally incapacitated may draw for his wife half the rate, provided in Article 642 for the widow and the full rate for the children of an officer, etc., of his rank, subject to the limitations respecting the age of children. After the death of the officer, warrant officer, non-commissioned officer or man, the widow may then draw the full rates provided in Article 642 for widows and children.

(g) The widowed mother of a totally disabled soldier may be granted a pension at half the rates fixed in Article 642 for a widow, provided the soldier is her sole support and unmarried. In the event of the soldier's decease, she may draw the full rate referred to.

642. Pensions may be paid to the widows and children of those who have been killed in action, or who have died from injuries received, or illness contracted on Active Service, during drill or training, or on other military duty, at the following rates; provided the soldier's death was not due to his own fault or negligence, and was clearly due to the carrying out of his military duties:

Rank held by Husband, Son or Father at time of death.

Rank and file	$22 a month for widow and $5 a month for each child.
Sergeant	$28 a month for widow and $5 a month for each child.
{ Squad, Battery, or Company
{ Sergeant-Major	$30 a month for widow and $5 a month for each child.
{ Squad, Battery or A. M. Sergeant
{ Colour Sergeant
{ Staff Sergeant	$30 a month for widow and $5 a month for each child.
{ Regimental Sgt.-Major, not W.O.
{ Master Gunner, not W.O.	$30 a month for widow and $5 a month for each child.
{ Regimental Quartermaster-Sgt.
Warrant Officer	$32 a month for widow and $5 a month for each child.
Lieutenant	$37 a month for widow and $6 a month for each child.
Captain	$45 a month for widow and $7 a month for each child.
Major	$50 a month for widow and $8 a month for each child.
Lieut.-Colonel	$60 a month for widow and $10 a month for each child.
Colonel	$75 a month for widow and $10 a month for each child.
Brig.-General	$100 a month for widow and $10 a month for each child.

(a) A widowed mother whose son was her sole support, and unmarried, shall be eligible for a pension as a widow without children, and subject to the same conditions as hereinafter set forth.

(b) In the case of orphans, the rates shown above for children may be doubled, and the pension paid to legally appointed guardians.

643. Pensions to widows and children shall take effect from the day following that on which the death of the husband, etc., occurred, and a gratuity equivalent to two months' pension shall be paid the first month, in addition to the pension.

644. The pension of a widow, a widowed mother, or child may be withheld or discontinued should such widow, etc., be or subsequently prove, unworthy of it, or should she be or become wealthy.

The decision of the minister as to whether a pension should be so withheld or discontinued shall be final.

645. The pension to a widow or widowed mother shall cease upon her re-marriage, but she will be eligible for a gratuity of two years' pension payable to her immediately after her marriage.

646. Neither gratuity nor pension shall be paid on account of a child (or orphan) over fifteen years of age, if a boy, or over seventeen years of age, if a girl, unless owing to mental or physical infirmity, the child (or orphan) is incapable of earning a livelihood, in which case the pension may be continued till the child (or orphan) is twenty-one years of age, but no pension will be paid to a child or orphan after marriage.

647. Individual cases for which the Regulations do not provide or sufficiently provide, may be specially considered by the Governor in Council.

648. Pensions may be paid monthly in advance.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 185

P. C. 887.

CERTIFIED COPY of a report of the Committee of the Privy Council, approved by His Royal Highness the Governor General on the 29th April, 1915.

The Committee of the Privy Council have had before them a report, dated 27th April, 1915, from the Minister of Militia and Defence, representing that at present there is not any provision for pensioning officers or soldiers of the Canadian Overseas Expeditionary Forces or their families, and that it is desirable to have such provision made forthwith.

The Minister, therefore, recommends that the provisions of Articles 591 to 598 of the Canadian Militia Pay and Allowance Regulations, as amended by Order in Council (P.C. No. 289) of 29th April, 1915, be made applicable to the officers and soldiers of the Canadian Overseas Expeditionary Forces and to their widows, children, orphans and widowed mothers, to as full an extent as if they, the said officers and soldiers, were officers, warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men, respectively, of the Militia, and had incurred death or disability on service as such militia officers, warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the militia.

The Minister further recommends that the said provisions be made to take effect from the 1st day of September, 1914.

The Committee concur in the foregoing and submit the same for approval.

RODOLPHE BOUDREAU,
Clerk of the Privy Council.

The Honourable

The Minister of Militia and Defence.

COMPOSITION OF PENSIONS AND CLAIMS BOARD.

The present Pensions and Claims Board was authorized by a Militia Order, as were the several similar Boards which preceded it, and is now acting in virtue of Militia Order No. 366 of the 2nd August, 1915, which reads as follows:—

“The Pensions and Claims Board is reconstituted as follows:—

“President—Colonel J. S. Dunbar, Assistant Adjutant-General, Militia Headquarters.

“Members—Lieut.-Colonel C. W. Belton, Permanent Army Medical Corps.

Lieut.-Colonel C. L. Panet, Secretary of the Department of Militia and Defence.”

INTERIM REPORT OF THE PENSIONS AND CLAIMS BOARD, WITH STATISTICAL STATEMENTS, TO MARCH 1, 1916.

The present Pensions and Claims Board was authorized by Militia Order No. 366 of the 2nd August, 1915, and is composed as follows:—

President.—Colonel J. S. Dunbar, Permanent Staff.

Members.—Lt.-Col. C. W. Belton, Permanent Army Medical Corps.

Hon. Lt.-Col. C. L. Panet, Secretary of the Department of Militia and Defence.

2. On the organization of the board, the L. B. Automatic Card Index system, metallic filing cabinets and a series of loose-leaf statistical ledgers were installed, and have proved very satisfactory. The board have drawn up all the necessary forms of application and for the medical re-examination of the pensioners in such a manner that personation will be difficult. Replies to inquiries re pensions, etc., and correspondence with the different branches of the Canadian Patriotic Fund throughout the country average about one hundred letters per day.

3. The board have recommended for the favourable consideration of The Honourable The Minister and transmission by him to the Treasury Board 1961 claims, and H.R.H. the Governor-General in Council has so far authorized the following amount of pension to be paid for one year, viz:—

Widows, Widowed Mothers and other dependents.....	$ 273,995 00
Officers, Warrant Officers, N.C.O.s and men.....	159,393 75
Grand Total.....	$ 433,388 75

4. The actual number of pensioners in receipt of pensions to date is as follows:—

Pensioners, 1866	10
“ 1885 and General	111
“ Act of 1901..	135
“ European War.....	2,179
Total.....	2,435

5. One hundred and twenty-five (125) applications for pensions have been refused for various reasons, such as disability not due to service, unworthiness, etc., and thirty-six pensions have been cancelled.

6. The several statements appended hereto furnish further statistical information in connection with the work of the Board to date.

J. S. DUNBAR, Colonel,
President, Pensions and Claims Board.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 185

MEMORANDUM COMPARING CANADIAN PENSIONS WITH THOSE GRANTED BY OTHER COUNTRIES.

With reference to the new scale of pensions for officers and men of the Canadian Militia, including the Expeditionary Force, these rates were drawn up in consultation with a sub-committee of the Privy Council.

The pensions for totally disabled soldiers are very similar to those introduced by the Parliament of the Commonwealth of Australia.

1. A comparative statement of the pensions granted to totally disabled soldiers in various ranks by—

- (a) Canada,
- (b) Australia,
- (c) New Zealand,
- (d) Great Britain,
- (e) United States of America, is attached; also—

2. A comparative statement of pensions granted by these same Governments to the widows of officers and men dying on active service.

TABLE 1—TOTAL DISABILITY PENSIONS.

In the case of totally disabled soldiers it will be noted that the Canadian rates are slightly higher than the Australian rates and considerably higher than the British rates for married men. They are, however, lower than the New Zealand rates just recently authorized.

In the United States there are rates for the different classes of disability and these amounts are awarded without any regard to the rank of the individual, with the consequent result that the rates for disability of soldiers in the lower ranks are higher than in any other country, but it should be noted that special provision exists in the Canadian scale by which the pension may be increased by one-third if the soldier requires the constant services of an attendant.

As regards officers, the Canadian rates are higher than the Australian and New Zealand rates, but considerably lower than the British rates.

TABLE 2—PENSIONS TO WIDOWS OF OFFICERS AND MEN.

The Canadian rates for the widows of soldiers are almost exactly the same as those recently provided in the Australian Act, and they are practically double the amounts authorized for the widows of British soldiers, although in Great Britain the rates have been materially increased since the outbreak of war.

The rates allowed to widows of soldiers of the United States are very much lower than the Canadian rates. As regards officers, the Canadian rates for widows of lieutenants and captains are almost exactly the same in Canada, Australia, and Great Britain, with the advantage slightly in favour of Canada. As regards officers of higher rank, majors and lieutenant-colonels, the Canadian rates are higher than the Australian, but less than the British. In both Canada and Great Britain on the widow remarrying, a gratuity equivalent to two years' pension is granted on remarriage taking place. . .

The only other point worth mentioning is that in Great Britain an increase of pension of $30 a year is given to a soldier's widow on attaining the age of 35 years, and another increase of $30 on attaining the age of 45 years, but even with this increase the rates do not come up to the Canadian rates.

REPORT OF W. D. HOGG.

OTTAWA, December 7, 1915.

To the Right Honourable
Sir ROBERT L. BORDEN,
Prime Minister.

SIR,—In pursuance of your suggestion that I should make some inquiries into the question of military pensions in Canada and report to you upon it, I beg to say, that after a careful investigation of the pension system as it at present exists in Canada, and after looking into the system in operation in the United States and Great Britain the plan which I have sketched out in the following remarks would I think meet the requirements of the Canadian Government in the matter.

Military pensions in Canada are now dealt with by a pension board consisting of three military officers appointed under the Militia Pension Act, their recommendations being forwarded to the Governor in Council for approval and payment of the pensions so recommended.

The regulations under which the present pension board act are comprehensive and so far as they affect the ordinary claims which are preferred for pensions, by soldiers who have been rendered either totally or partially incapable of earning a livelihood, or by their wives or other relatives, they are workable and efficient. Under these regulations the pension board obtains the evidence required and after full consideration decides in which degree as to remuneration the claimant should be classed, and in the great majority of these cases the decision of the pension board is all that is required to justify the payment of the pension recommended by that Board.

There are, however, a considerable number of cases of a special nature from time to time presented, for which the regulations do not provide or do not sufficiently provide, and which under present methods are relegated by the Board for the consideration and decision of the Governor in Council. Some of these are cases which may require further inquiry before a reasonable or proper judgment can be reached. Others are of a kind which not falling within the cases defined by the regulations are of such character as would require a careful consideration of the facts in order to arrive at a fair and just result or decision in the individual case. The number of these special cases although not yet very great are still of such a number as would occupy a large amount of time of the Governor in Council. Generally speaking these claims are of a nature that should receive prompt consideration and determination. As the number of claimants for pensions increases as it is sure to, the number of special cases will increase to large proportions.

The question presented by this condition of things, and the method which should be adopted to meet the requirements not only of the present position but more particularly the position which will come about as the number of claims for pensions increases, are questions of importance and some plan should be adopted to deal with the situation which will at once be efficient and at the same time relieve the Governor in Council from the necessity of dealing with them.

My suggestion is that a commission composed of persons entirely outside of the permanent Government service having authority to deal with the whole pension system should be appointed. The jurisdiction and duties of this commission would in a general way consist of examinations of the recommendations of the present pension board in regard to all cases coming within the defined classes mentioned in the regulations, and approving of them for payment if in the opinion of the commission these recommendations were such as should be approved, and also the further and fuller consideration of the special cases which would be presented by the pension board and which are not covered fully by the pension regulations as before mentioned.

My recommendations therefore to meet the requirements of the situation is that a commission consisting of three or five members, preferably five, and a secretary be appointed to deal with pension claims and that the duties of the commission would be as follows:—

1. They should be authorized and empowered to order the payment of pensions to claimants whose claims come within the cases defined by the pension regulations, and which have been considered and recommended by the pension board, in all cases in which these recommendations meet with the approval of the commission.

2. The report of the pension board upon all claims of a special character in regard to which the regulations do not provide or do not sufficiently provide, should be brought before the commission for their decision.

3. This report of the pension board with a list of all special cases to be dealt with should receive the consideration of the commission at its meetings, which meetings should be held at least once a week or oftener if the business is such as would require more frequent meetings. The meetings to be held in a place to be provided by the Government.

4. The decision of the commission on all cases should be final.

5. The business transacted at each meeting should be recorded by the secretary of the commission and the secretary should do such other clerical work as the commission may require.

6. The commission should have power to make such additional rules and regulations as may be deemed necessary for the efficient working of the pension system.

It will be observed that the above suggestions are not intended to interfere with the working of the present pension board. The object sought to be attained by these suggestions to deal promptly with, and finally determine, all claims for pensions both in regard to those coming within the defined classes and those of a special character, and to relieve the Minister of Militia and Defence and the Governor in Council from that work; the intention being that the decision of the commission upon all cases coming before it should be final in its character and that upon the decision and order of the commission the payment of whatever amount may be awarded to the claimant would be made by the Government.

I would not be in favour of any appeal from the decision of the commission. Expedition in the disposal of claims for pensions, and the finality of the disposition of them are the two important matters which should be kept in view in dealing with pensions. The finality of the commission's decisions would I believe be of great value to the Government as well as to the claimants and should be provided for in the Order in Council appointing a commission. It would go a long way to prevent many of the abuses which were allowed to take root and grow to large dimensions in the pension system of United States.

As I have already said the pension regulations at present in force are comprehensive and seem to cover all cases except such as are of a special nature. If a commission such as above outlined should be appointed a change might be advantageously made in regulation number 644 which would have the effect of relieving the Minister of Militia and Defence in regard to the decision necessary in cases where the pension of a widow may be withheld or discontinued. The final decision in such cases would be that of the commission instead of the minister.

The matter of pensions to our wounded soldiers and to the widows and other relatives of those who have fallen in battle or have otherwise become incapacitated while in active service, will I am satisfied become in the near future a subject of great importance to the Government and to the country. It will involve the annual expenditure of a large sum of money. In order to efficiently cope with this subject a right start in the method of dealing with it is most important and I believe that a commission having the powers above outlined would accomplish this better than any other method which could be suggested.

In order that the business of the commission should be satisfactorily and promptly attended to the members of the commission and the secretary should reside in Ottawa. The relations between the commission and the present pension board would be by communication of the secretary of the commission with the pension board, and the meetings of the commission would be called by the secretary from time to time as business demanded. As the work of the commission would in all likelihood necessarily continue for a number of years the commissioners and the secretary should be paid by salary to be fixed by the Governor in Council.

In regard to the power of the Governor in Council to pass an order for the appointment of a commission such as above mentioned the existing legislation which would seem to apply is the 6th section of the War Measures Act of 1915, 5 George V, Chapter 2. That section is as follows:—

(1) The Governor in Council shall have power to do and authorize such things and to make from time to time such orders and regulations as he may by reason of the existence of real or apprehended war, invasion or insurrection, deem necessary or advisable for the security, defence, peace, order and welfare of Canada; and for greater certainty, but not so as to restrict the generality of the foregoing terms, it is hereby declared that the powers of the Governor in Council shall extend to all matters coming within the classes of subjects hereinafter enumerated, that is to say:—

- (a) censorship and the control and suppression of publications, writings, maps, plans, photographs, communications and means of communication;
- (b) arrest, detention, exclusion and deportation;
- (c) control of the harbours, ports and territorial waters of Canada and the movements of vessels;
- (d) transportation by land, air, or water and the control of the transport of persons and things;
- (e) trading, exportation, importation, production and manufacture;
- (f) appropriation, control, forfeiture and disposition of property and of the use thereof.

(2) All orders and regulations made under this section shall have the force of law, and shall be enforced in such manner and by such courts, officers and authorities as the Governor in Council may prescribe, and may be varied, extended or revoked by any subsequent order or regulations; but if any order or regulation is varied, extended or revoked, neither the previous operation thereof nor anything duly done thereunder, shall be affected thereby, nor shall any right, privilege, obligation or liability acquired, accrued, accruing or incurred thereunder be affected by any such variation, extension or revocation.

Under the general words in subsection 1, I think the Governor in Council may issue an order for the appointment of a commission to deal with pensions. Pensions arise by reason of the war and the granting and distribution of pensions would no doubt come under the words "security, peace, order and welfare of Canada." It will be observed that in the enumeration of special subjects under subsection 1 of section 6, an appointment of such a commission as that now under consideration is not covered but the section is broad enough to cover such an Order in Council.

6 GEORGE V, A. 1916

The existing Pension Board is provided for by section 9 of the Militia Pension Act, R.S.C., chapter 42. Sections 78 and 79 of the Militia Act, R.S.C., chapter 41, provides for compensation to disabled soldiers and for the widows of families of soldiers who lose their lives in active service. Section 144 of the Militia Act provides for the Governor in Council making regulations for the organization, discipline and good government of the Militia and for anything requiring to be done for the military defence of Canada.

The above constitute so far as I am able to ascertain the legislation which has a bearing on the question under consideration, and they seem to me to be sufficient to empower the Governor in Council to appoint by Order in Council a commission of the character above described.

If, however, it should be considered that there is any doubt in regard to the powers of the Governor in Council to appoint such a commission by Order in Council then it would be necessary to have legislation for that purpose, but as I have said I am of opinion the existing legislation is sufficient.

Attached is a copy of the pension regulations at present in force. The regulations as time goes on and experience is gained may require and will quite likely require, additions and amendments and this matter has been referred to in the suggested powers of the commission.

In addition to the regular pension claims the present pension board has also been dealing with claims for injury to property caused by its occupation for military purposes, and also claims for accidents to persons caused by military operations in Canada, and by losses sustained by soldiers during transport and otherwise. This class of cases has been receiving the consideration of the pension board, and while not numerous require to be decided. It has occurred to me that if a commission is appointed it might be well that this class of cases should also be referred to the commission for its consideration, and be finally dealt with.

Respectfully submitted,

W. D. HOGG.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE PENSIONS AND CLAIMS BOARD, C.E.F., AS TO PENSIONS AND OTHER MATTERS PERTAINING TO THE RETURN OF MEMBERS OF THE CANADIAN MILITIA FROM ACTIVE SERVICE TO CIVIL LIFE.

The Pensions and Claims Board now sitting at Folkestone, England, has for the past five months been engaged in investigating the cases of, and recommending pensions for, disabled Canadian soldiers and their dependents. It has also been making a careful study of the subject of pensions, both as a matter by itself and in relation to the larger problem of the care of, and provision for, the Canadian soldier on his return to civil life. This study has involved exhaustive research work as to the pension laws and provisions of the principal European nations and of the United States.

From this study and from the knowledge gained by practical experience of work done under the pension provisions of the Canadian Militia Pay and Allowance Regulations, 1914, now in force, this board has formed certain definite opinions which it now respectfully begs to submit for your consideration in the hope that they may be of some assistance to those in Canada who are engaged in the effort to solve these difficult and all-important problems. Throughout this report, whenever it has appeared necessary to support a recommendation, a short explanatory note has been appended to the paragraph containing the recommendation.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 185

On the matter of pensions proper we beg to offer the following suggestions, which are intended to be applicable to all members of the Canadian Militia on active service, whether home or foreign, including chaplains, members of the C.A.M.C., nursing sisters, and, speaking generally, all non-combatant as well as all combatant members:

I. All pensions or benefits awarded to members of the Canadian Militia disabled on active service, and to their dependents, should be paid from the public funds of the Dominion of Canada.

N.B.—Since the disabilities were incurred in the service of the Canadian nation as a whole, the funds necessary for pensions and other benefits should be a charge upon the Federal Government and not upon Provincial or other Governments, or upon private benevolence.

II. They should be awarded by a Central Pensions Board, which, above everything, should be removed from all possibility of political influence. Its members should be appointed by the Governor General in Council for life, and be removable only for cause.

N.B.—The experience of other nations has proved the undesirability of allowing a pensioning body to be so constituted that its policy can be directed by succeeding political parties, who have used promises of increased pensions for party purposes.

III. The decisions of that board should be final and it should be responsible only to Parliament.

IV. No pensionable member of the Canadian Militia should be retired or discharged from Active Service until after receiving the first payment on account of pension.

N.B.—In many cases hardship has occurred when discharge has taken place and pay has ceased sometimes long before the first payment of pension has been made.

V. No pension should be capable of being assigned, charged, attached or commuted.

N.B.—A pension should be the inalienable property of the person to whom it is granted, for the protection both of the grantee and of the State. Should the grantee be allowed to dissipate it, public sentiment would probably necessitate a further provision by the State, or failing that, the grantee would almost certainly become a charge upon private charity.

VI. The pensions provided for the Permanent Force by the Militia Pensions Act should be awarded separately and without reference to such pensions as members of that Force may become entitled to as the result of Active Service.

N.B.—The pensions provided for members of the Permanent Force are contributory and form part of the contract of enlistment in the force, which must be fulfilled.

VII. All pensions to members of the Canadian Militia disabled on Active Service should be awarded in direct proportion to the impairment of capacity for earning a livelihood in the general market for untrained labour.

N.B.—Men enlisting for Active Service in the Canadian Militia as privates bring to the service of their country a healthy body. The previous occupation of the recruit is not recognized as having any reference to the service which the soldier could give the State, unless it secures for him a higher rank than that of private, in which case the return made to him by the State in pay and pension is proportionately increased. The private soldier then is looked upon as offering merely a healthy mind and body to the public service. For practical purposes the market for healthy bodies is said to be the "general market for untrained labour." Upon leaving the Service any physical or mental disability which may have been suffered is estimated according to the extent by which it reduces the capacity of the individual concerned for earning a livelihood in the general market for untrained labour. It is to be noted that it is the impairment of capacity for earning, without reference to the former occupation or income, which is to be determined.

VIII. A disability table should be carefully prepared, so as to provide an accurate and uniform basis for the guidance of Medical Boards and others, in determining the degree of incapacity for performing untrained labour.

N.B.—It is the duty of medical officers to establish the physical condition of soldiers at their entrance to the public service, and at their exit from it. In order to assist them in estimating the extent to which a given disability reduces the capacity of an individual to earn his livelihood in the general labour market a Disability Table largely based upon the experience gained in the administration of workmen's compensation acts in Europe and elsewhere, should be prepared. By employing such a table as a guide, medical officers will ensure accuracy and uniformity in their findings, and as a result, will help to secure equity in the amounts of pensions granted. Such a table is now being prepared by this board and will be completed shortly.

IX. A disabled member of the Canadian militia should be pensionable to the extent to which the disability is due to active service either in the Canadian force, or in any other force to which the member is seconded, whether such disability is directly and entirely due to such service, or has only been aggravated thereby.

N.B.—Under Canadian social organizations, private citizens must bear for themselves the risks of disabling illness or accident to which all human beings are subject. It is but fair, when a private citizen is engaged on public service that, while he continues to bear his own risk, all risks resulting directly from disabilities which he incurs as a result of his public service, should be borne by the nation of which he is a member, and for which he has served.

X. Until the disability has been relieved and re-constituted, as far as possible, by treatment, functional re-education and artificial appliances, and the incapacity has thus been brought to a state of finality, only a temporary pension should be granted, renewable at periods of from six to twelve months.

XI. The educational authorities should be obliged to report every case in which they have reason to believe that a child's pension is not being fairly and properly expended for the benefit of the child.

XII. No deserter should be pensionable.

XIII. The State should, if and when necessary, relieve disabled pensioners from any extra cost, which they might otherwise incur by reason of their disability, in respect of Government Annuities and life and accident insurance for limited amounts.

N.B.—A disabled man is at a disadvantage in buying insurance or an annuity of any sort for two reasons; first, because his disability may reduce his expectation of life, or make him specially liable to accident, and secondly because the result of an additional accident may increase the resulting total disability out of all proportion to the effect immediately resulting from the second injury; for example, a man blind in one eye is but slightly disabled; if he loses his other eye, he immediately becomes totally disabled, although the second accident was only equal in its effect to the first, since it was only the direct cause of the loss of one eye. These are distinct disadvantages and, in so far as they result from disabilities incurred in the public service, their cost should be borne by the State. This does not, however, imply that the State may be called upon to assist disabled men in obtaining insurance for indefinite amounts. The amount of insurance for which State aid can be obtained should be in proportion to the pension awarded to the individual concerned, and should be limited as may be determined by the pension authorities.

XIV. Rules of procedure, as to all matters pertaining to the administration of the pension provisions should be prepared and published in convenient form, to facilitate the work of the Pensions Board.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 185

XV. The present pension provisions as contained in paragraphs 641 to 648 inclusive, of the Canadian Militia Pay and Allowance Regulations, 1914, are, it is thought, in some respects inadequate and unsatisfactory, and the following are recommended in substitution for them, as covering the additions and amendments which seem to be most essential:—

Disabled member of Canadian Militia shall be pensionable as follows:—

(a) A member of the Canadian Militia recommended for retirement or discharge on account of disability, whether wholly due to, or only aggravated by, Active Service, shall be pensionable, to the extent to which such disability is due to Active Service, in direct proportion to the impairment of capacity for earning a livelihood in the general market for untrained labour, at the following rates:—

Rank.	Rate per Annum.
1. Rank and File.	$ 360
2. Corporal.	384
3. Sergeant.	432
4. Squadron, Battery or Company Sergt.-Major
" " Q.M.S.	468
Colour Sergeant.
Staff Sergeant
5. Regimental Sgt.-Major, not W.O.
Master Gunner, not W.O.	528
Regimental Q.M.S.
6. Warrant Officer	576
7. Lieutenant.	660
8. Captain.	816
9. Major.	960
10. Lt.-Colonel	1,200
11. Colonel.	1,440
12. Brig.-General.	2,100

N.B.—These rates are arrived at by adding $96 per annum to the pension now payable to each rank, up to and including that of Captain. It is also proposed to make the rate for a Corporal a little higher than that for the Rank and File, also to increase the rate for a Lieutenant beyond that for a Warrant Officer.

The proposed rates are based upon the opinion that the present provision for the Rank and File is inadequate. In case of total incapacitation the pension should be sufficient to provide a decent livelihood. For that purpose not less than $360 per annum is thought necessary. If the rate for the Rank and File is increased, it is necessary to increase the rates for the other ranks below that of Major, in order to preserve the present distinction between them, but it does not appear necessary to increase those rates in exact proportion to the increase for the Rank and File; nor to increase the rates for the four higher ranks at all.

6 GEORGE V, A. 1916

(b) The proportion of the above rates to be paid in each case, shall be determined, according to the percentage of impairment of capacity, under the following degrees:—

DEGREES.	Per cent.
1st degree.	100
2nd degree.	80
3rd degree.	60
4th degree.	40
5th degree.	20
6th degree, under.	20

N.B.—This does away with the present distinction between those rendered incapable in action, etc., and those rendered incapable in training, etc.

It is submitted that this distinction should not be made, as, after enlistment, all are subject to military discipline, must go where they are sent and do what they are told, and, when disabled, whether while training or fighting, should receive the same treatment.

The number of degrees awardable has been increased to six, as it is clear that, unless a sufficient number is provided, individuals of widely varying incapacity must receive the same pension, and dissatisfaction is sure to result.

GRATUITIES IN LIEU OF PENSIONS.

(c) Where the disability is less than 10 per cent, a gratuity of not more than $100 may, at the discretion of the Pensions Board, be paid in lieu of pension.

N.B.—It frequently happens that an individual has received some slight injury insufficient to entitle him to a pension which may be renewed, but sufficient to give him a just claim for some consideration. The payment of a gratuity provides a convenient method of finally settling the claim in such a case.

ATTENDANTS.

(d) Where the disability is great enough to require the constant services of an attendant, the rates under the first degree may be increased by one-third, and where the disability is great enough to require the occasional services of an attendant, the rates under the first and second degrees may be increased by one-sixth.

IF INCAPACITY COMES WITHIN FIRST, SECOND OR THIRD DEGREES, MAY DRAW, IN ADDITION TO PERSONAL PENSION.

(e) A disabled member of the Canadian Militia pensionable under the first, second or third degrees of incapacity, may, in addition to the personal pension as above provided, draw—

FOR WIFE.

1. For his wife, if any, or so soon as he marries, at the rate of one-third of his personal pension.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 185

FOR CHILDREN AND STEP-CHILDREN.

2. For a child or children, if any of pensionable age, or so soon as born; and for a step-child or step-children, and for an illegitimate child or illegitimate children, and for a child or children to whom such member stood in loco parentis, whether related to such member by consanguinity or not, if any of pensionable age dependent on such member at the time of joining for active service, at the rates of:—

One-sixth of the personal pension for the eldest child.

One-eighth of the personal pension for the second child.

One-tenth of the personal pension for the third and each other child.

FOR "UNMARRIED WIFE."

3. If he is unmarried or a widower, for a woman who has been receiving separation allowance, or subsistence allowance, or assigned pay, as if a wife, and is still entirely dependent on him, at the rate of one-third of his personal pension.

IF NO WIFE, ETC., EXTRA PENSION FOR ELDEST CHILD.

4. If the father of, or the member standing in loco parentis to, the child or children provided for in subsection (2) is not drawing a pension for a wife or for a woman such as subsection (3) provides for, he may, until he marries or remarries, draw for the only or eldest child of pensionable age a further pension at the rate of one-sixth of his personal pension.

FOR PARENTS OR THOSE "IN LOCO PARENTIS."

5. For a parent or parents, or for any person or persons, who, at the time such member joined the Canadian Militia for active service, stood in loco parentis to such member; according to the proved degree or degrees of dependency, either existent or when it may arise, at a rate, or rates, not exceeding, in the whole, one-third of the personal pension.

VARIATION IN DEPENDENCY.

6. At the discretion of the Pensions Board, the pension, which a member of the Canadian Militia disabled on active service may draw for any of the aforesaid dependents, may be increased, lessened or discontinued according as the dependency of such dependent increases, lessens or ceases; provided that it shall not for any dependent exceed the amount which may be drawn as above provided for such dependent; and provided that the maximum amount for which any such member shall be pensionable, both personally and for all dependents, including the increase for an attendant, if any, shall not, in the whole, exceed twice the amount of the personal pension.

IF UNWORTHY OR UNFIT, PENSION MAY BE WITHHELD, DISCONTINUED OR PAID TO OTHERS.

7. Should any member of the Canadian Militia disabled on active service be, or become, in the opinion of the Pensions Board, unworthy or unfit to receive it, the pension, or any part thereof, may, at any time, at the discretion of the Pensions Board, be withheld, or discontinued, or paid to the wife or husband, or to any of the dependents of such member, or to a legally appointed guardian for the benefit of the person or persons for whom such member would otherwise have received it.

6 GEORGE V, A. 1916

MUST CLAIM WITHIN ONE YEAR OF DISABILITY.

8. In all cases the claim for a personal pension must be made within one year of the date of the appearance of the disability upon which the claim is based, unless special reasons are shown which, in the opinion of the Pensions Board, are sufficiently strong to justify an exception.

N.B.—In civil life a man may support whom he will and can, provided, however, that he must first fulfil his obligations to his immediate family. The pension awarded to a disabled man, on account of his incapacitation, is part of the attempt made by the State to rehabilitate him so that he may compete with his fellow-citizens and suffer, through war, as little as possible.

A pension will be more likely to accomplish this object in the lower degrees of incapacity than in the higher. Therefore a pensioner, who suffers from an incapacity of 60 per cent or over, should, besides his personal pension, receive the other pensions provided for as above. He should be pensionable for a wife and children, not only present, but future, in order to encourage him to marry and have children; also for step-children, illegitimate children and children to whom he stood in loco parentis, of pensionable age who were dependent on him when he joined for Active Service. If his "unmarried wife" has been receiving separation allowance, subsistence allowance or assigned pay, and is still entirely dependent on him, it is logical that he should be pensionable for her. He should also be pensionable for his parents, or for those who, at the time he joined for Active Service, stood in the place of his parents, according to proved dependency whether present or future. Obviously it is necessary to provide that the pension he may draw on account of dependents may be varied or discontinued according as the dependency of each dependent varies or ceases. The maximum awardable to any one pensioner should, it is thought, be limited to twice his personal pension, amounting for the Rank and File to $720 per annum, which is considered to be the average amount which a sound man may earn per year in the general labour market of Canada. It is desirable to insist that a claim for a personal pension should be made as soon as possible after a disability appears, as it is extremely difficult for medical opinion to decide upon the cause of disabilities which are not examined soon after their origin.

AFTER DEATH OF MEMBER, DEPENDENTS PENSIONABLE AS FOLLOWS:—

(f) When a member of the Canadian Militia has been killed in action, or has died from injuries received or illness contracted while on Active Service, the dependents of such member shall be pensionable as follows:—

WIDOW.

1. A widow, at the same rate at which the deceased, if alive, would have been personally pensionable, under the 1st Degree of disability.

IF SHE RE-MARRIES, PENSION SHALL CEASE.

Should she re-marry, her pension shall cease, but she may, at the discretion of the Pensions Board, be granted a gratuity to an amount not exceeding the equivalent of 2 years' pension.

CHILDREN.

2. A child or children, and a step-child or step-children, and an illegitimate child or illegitimate children, and a child or children to whom the deceased stood in loco parentis, whether related to the deceased by consanguinity or not, if any of pensionable age, at the same rate or rates at which the deceased, if alive, would have drawn for such child or children, under the 1st Degree of Disability.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 185

ORPHANS TO GET DOUBLE.

3. A child or children, such as provided for by the last preceding subsection, if an orphan or orphans of pensionable age, at double the rate or rates at which the deceased, if alive, would have drawn for such child or children, under the 1st Degree of Disability; and such pension or pensions shall be paid to legally appointed guardians for the benefit of such child or children.

"UNMARRIED WIDOW."

4. If the deceased was at his death unmarried, or a widower, a pension may be granted to a woman if she was entirely dependent on him and had been receiving separation allowance, or subsistence allowance or assigned pay, as if a wife, or for whom he had been drawing a pension, as for a wife, at the rate at which he would, if alive, have been personally pensionable, under the 1st Degree of Disability. Should she marry, her pension shall cease, but she may, at the discretion of the Pensions Board, be granted a gratuity to an amount not exceeding the equivalent of 1 year's pension.

PARENTS OR THOSE "IN LOCO PARENTIS."

5. A parent or parents, or any person or persons who, at the time the deceased joined the Canadian Militia for Active Service, stood in loco parentis to the deceased, according to the proved degree of dependency, either existent or when it may arise, at a rate or rates not exceeding, in the whole, the rate at which the deceased would, if alive, have been personally pensionable, under the 1st Degree of Disability.

VARIATION IN DEPENDENCY—MAXIMUM.

6. At the discretion of the Pensions Board, the pension of any of the aforesaid dependents of the deceased may be increased, lessened or discontinued, according as the dependency of such dependent increases, lessens or ceases; provided that it shall not, for any dependent exceed the amount above provided for such dependent, and provided that the maximum amount, for which all the dependents of the deceased shall be pensionable, shall not, in the whole, exceed $1\frac{1}{2}$ times the amount for which the deceased would, if alive, have been personally pensionable, under the 1st Degree of Disability.

REDUCTION TO MAXIMUM, WHERE NECESSARY.

7. Whenever a reduction of pensions is necessary, in order to bring the total amount of the pensions of all dependents of the deceased to the aforesaid maximum, the pension or pensions of the dependent or dependents provided for by subsection (5) shall first be reduced pro rata, or cancelled, as may be necessary, and if, and only when, a further reduction is necessary, the pensions of children shall be reduced pro rata as may be necessary.

IF DEPENDENTS UNWORTHY OR UNFIT, PENSIONS MAY BE WITHHELD, DISCONTINUED OR PAID TO GUARDIAN.

8. Should any dependent or dependents of the deceased, in the opinion of the Pensions Board, be, or become, unworthy or unfit to receive a pension or pensions, such pension or pensions may at any time, at the discretion of the Pensions Board, be withheld or discontinued or paid to a legally appointed guardian for the benefit of such dependent or dependents.

6 GEORGE V, A. 1916

PAYMENT OF PENSIONS TO DEPENDENTS.

9. All pensions payable to dependents of the deceased shall be payable in advance and shall take effect from the day following that on which the deceased died, and a gratuity equivalent to 2 months' pension shall in every case be added to, and paid with, the first payment.

(g) All pensions may be paid monthly in advance.

PENSIONABLE AGE OF CHILDREN.

(h) Neither pension nor gratuity shall be paid on account of, or to, any child over 16 years of age, if a boy, or over 17 years of age, if a girl, unless the Pensions Board is satisfied either:—

1st. That the child is, owing to mental or physical infirmity incapable of earning a livelihood; in which case the pension may, at the discretion of the Pensions Board, be continued until the child is 21 years of age, after which a subsidy of equal amount, in lieu of the pension, may, at the discretion of the Pensions Board, be paid to an approved institution, for the care of the child, so long as the child remains an inmate thereof, or:—

2nd. That the child is in good faith following a definite course of instruction in an approved secondary school, technical school or University; in which case the pension may, at the discretion of the Pensions Board, be paid until the child is 21 years of age.

XVI. In addition to the award of pensions the methods adopted for the return of members of the Canadian Militia from Active Service to civil life should secure the following results:—

(a) Reduction of physical disability to a permanent minimum by appropriate medical treatment.

(b) Instruction in various suitable occupations in order that they may become employable and self-supporting.

(c) Assistance to find employment or occupation.

XVII. The responsibility for the fulfilment of these provisions should rest with the Dominion Government, who should provide the medical service, hospital treatment and educational and other facilities necessary for their accomplishment.

XVIII. To secure prompt, adequate and co-ordinated action, the direction of all measures adopted for the return of members of the Canadian Militia to civil life should be placed under the general direction of a central administrative body.

XIX. The composition of that body should be such as to remove it from all possibility of its being influenced by party politics. It should be composed of not more than five members, who should be chosen for their outstanding ability and capacity for administration. They should be adequately paid for their services, and if necessary, should devote their whole time to the work.

XX. The measures to be adopted by such a body should be framed with the fullest recognition that Canada has an obligation to do everything necessary to rehabilitate all members of her Militia who have incurred disabilities resulting from Active Service, so that, by reason of such disabilities, they shall suffer as little as possible.

2 LEADER LANE, TORONTO,
December 21, 1915.

DEAR SIR.—This letter accompanies a copy of a Report which I would ask you to read with care, and if its subject matter and the arguments advanced in its support meet with your approval, I hope you will forward its objects by every means in your power.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 185

By using, for instance, your personal influence with your local members of the Commons, advocating action on the lines indicated.

By getting municipal bodies, as well as other organizations with which you, or any of your friends are connected, to do likewise.

By stirring up public opinion in every way that may seem to you wise.

By calling meetings, public or private, to discuss, consider and pass resolutions on the question; and by every legitimate means, bringing to bear on the Federal Government at Ottawa the fact that public feeling throughout the country, is favourable to the enacting of such legislation as will afford the totally incapacitated soldier a pension sufficiently large to maintain him and his family in decent comfort.

The matter is not, and should not be allowed to degenerate into, a party political question. It is a matter of fair and honest dealing with a body of men who have done their part nobly and well, and who have a right to expect that the country will in return do theirs in as fine a spirit, and with an equal lack of selfishness.

The Report is not intended as fault finding, or as an adverse criticism of an existing situation; every one must, however, realize how rapidly in these days of stress, conditions change and new situations develop and present themselves in new forms. The position of the totally disabled soldier which recent events have forced into the foreground, is one of these; and the suggestions herein presented are offered in the hope that they may aid in the amelioration of a very real hardship, which was perhaps not fully appreciated when the present arrangements were made.

In conclusion, I cannot refrain from again drawing attention to the suggestion that the Government should furnish artificial limbs for wounded soldiers, in order to insist that, if they are to be of real use, it is absolutely necessary that they be made specially for each individual case, and fitted under the direction of an experienced surgeon by a skilled mechanic. Well done, they will be of the greatest value; ill done, a useless extravagance.

Too much stress also cannot be put upon the importance of teaching men new trades; on no account whatever should even one solitary man, judged capable of being taught, be permitted to go free to pick up an "odd job," nor should one be found for him. To allow it would be an economical crime for which there is neither justification nor excuse, more especially when it is remembered that excellent means now exist by which men can be taught almost any of the manual trades; that they should fail to be made the fullest use of is inconceivable.

If people generally will do their best to strengthen the hands of the authorities at Ottawa in formulating a pension scheme of such a character that the country need not be ashamed of it, it will, without doubt, immensely stimulate recruiting.

Yours truly,

FRANK DARLING,

P.S.—A copy of this letter together with the Report is being sent to all the members of the Dominion Senate and the House of Commons, to the members of the Legislatures of the various provinces; to the editors of all the daily papers in Canada and many of the weekly ones; to the Mayors of all cities and towns, and to the Reeves of many of the larger villages and townships; to the Secretaries of many Patriotic Fund Committees, Boards of Trade, Clubs, Societies, and Institutions, and also to a large number of private individuals throughout the Dominion.

Report of the undersigned Committee presented to, and accepted by, the "Council of the Toronto and York County Patriotic Fund Association" at a meeting held in Toronto on Monday the 8th November, 1915.

The Report is distributed with the consent of the Committee and the sanction and approval of the Council.

Frank Darling, Chairman, Hume Blake, C. A. Bogert, Ven. Archdeacon Cody, Pres. R. A. Falconer, U. of T., J. J. Gibbons, Col. Gooderham, W. P. Gundy, Col. W. C. Macdonald, Most Rev. N. McNeil, Alexander McPhedran, M.D., Hon. Mr. Justice Masten, E. R. Wood.

THE ARGUMENT.

The existing regulations (see Government Act appended) provide for different scales of pensions for men equally severely wounded, putting them into two classes called "first degree" and "second degree." These two classes should be consolidated. The distinction made between them is unfair and unjust, and would give rise to many complaints and much heart burning. From the time a man is accepted and drafted into a regiment, he is no longer his own master, but becomes a soldier, subject in all matters to military discipline; he has no control of his own actions, but goes where he is sent, and does what he is told. To make any distinction, therefore, between a man who is injured "in action, or in the presence of the enemy" and one who is injured while on barrack or other duties or while in process of training, is illogical and unreasonable; both men are doing their duty and serving their country and deserve, and should receive, the same treatment.

The scale of pensions as now fixed by the Government is too low for the rank and file, particularly in regard to those totally incapacitated from earning a living. A man who has lost both legs, both arms, the sight of both eyes, or who is seriously paralyzed, cannot possibly live on $22 a month. This is true even if he is granted, in addition, the $7.33 a month, which may be allowed for the "constant services of an attendant" though it is difficult to understand what sort of "constant attendance" can be procured for $7.33 a month. Moreover, should this unfortunate man happen to receive the injuries or contract the illness, which leave him absolutely helpless, elsewhere than "in action or in the presence of the enemy," he gets only $16 per month as pension, and possibly $5.33 for the "constant services of an attendant."

The case of a single man is much less satisfactory than that of the married man. When the totally helpless, incapacitated man is married, he is entitled to draw, on account of his wife, $11 a month, making a total of $40.33 per month as against the single man's $29.33. The truth is, that a man and his wife would do better on the forty dollars than the single man could on the twenty-nine, as the wife would take care of her husband without the wages which the single man must pay for such services. It is very strongly urged, therefore, that the single man should, under circumstances of total disability, receive the combined allowance which a married man, with no children and suffering to the same extent, would draw on account of himself and wife.

A man with his wife and three children will draw, if in the "first degree," $55.33 per month; if in the "second degree," $47.33 per month, the $5 per month allowed by the Government for each child being included in the above figures. These amounts include also the allowance for "the constant services of an attendant" ($7.33 and $5.33 respectively) but the giving of this latter allowance is apparently optional.

Look for a moment at what living costs. In a pamphlet, issued by the authority of the Minister of Labour, in August of this year, is given a statement of the typical weekly expenditures on staple foods, fuel, lighting, and rentals for a family of five, in terms of the average prices in some sixty cities in Canada for all of 1914 and half of 1915. The average is $61.33 per month ($736 per year) and no allowance is included for clothing, medical attendance or household replenishment.

A woman whose husband has enlisted in the Canadian Expeditionary Forces receives altogether, from separation allowance, assigned pay, and Patriotic Fund grant, a total of from forty to forty-five dollars a month. If this same woman's husband comes home so wounded that he is totally incapacitated from earning a livelihood, she will find herself with an invalid man on her hands to feed, clothe, and look after, upon an income very greatly reduced, viz., $32.33 or $40.33 per month in place of $40 or $45, and this will be still further reduced to $27 or $33 if the allowance for "the constant services of an attendant" is not granted.

It is justifiable, therefore, in the face of these figures, to say that the Pension List requires careful reconsideration on its financial side.

It is further suggested that without destroying the flexibility of the scheme so as to permit a reasonable adaptation of it to special circumstances, the right of the pensioner to his allowance should be made perfectly certain, so that in receiving his pension he may feel that it is paid him as a right, and not as a favour, and this right should be made very clear and unassailable.

All matters pertaining to Pensions should be decided by a permanent Pension Board, the appointments to the Board being kept free from political party control, and so regulated that a definite form of continuous policy shall be followed. Only by such means can the efficiency of the organization and economy in its working be secured and maintained.

Something should be done in a case such as the wife dying and leaving three or four small children, and a hopelessly disabled invalid husband. As the regulations now stand, the money he has been drawing on account of his wife, would cease on her death, and he would be left with less income at the moment when it is necessary that he should have more. The man, incapable himself of doing anything, would naturally wish to keep his motherless children about him, but with his reduced income he could not afford to pay any one properly to look after them. Charitable organizations would probably be willing to take them, but to deprive the man, who has just lost his wife, of his children as well, would be a piece of unnecessary cruelty, more particularly as he would in that case, be reduced to the inadequate pension of $22 per month allowed to a single man.

The need of deciding upon a fair and liberal, though at the same time reasonable, pension allowance, for the wounded men now beginning to return, is urgent, and no time should be lost in pressing upon the Government the importance of having it settled at the earliest possible moment.

As now contemplated by the existing rules, the pensions of children cease at the age of fifteen for boys and seventeen for girls, but it would be wiser if the pensions ceased at the age of sixteen for both. They cannot get into permanent employment until after they have passed school age, and the dropping of their pensions, before they can earn enough to support themselves, would put an unnecessary tax on the family income.

Each and every child left an orphan should be granted double the amount of the pension allowed the first child in the grade to which the orphan belongs, the money to be paid over to legally appointed guardians on its behalf.

The provision in the Government plan, that a child, orphaned or otherwise, who, owing to mental or physical infirmity, is incapable of earning a livelihood, may have the pension continue until the child is twenty-one years of age, but that it should then cease, requires consideration, as the question of the child's future should not be left at loose ends as at present.

Appended to this report is a copy of the existing Government Pension Act, together with a proposed new scale, which it is hoped may prove more satisfactory, and is suggested with that object in view.

One of the reasons advanced in support of this new scale is that a man returning to private life, totally incapacitated from earning a livelihood owing to injuries received while on service, should at least receive as much as he was paid while in the ranks (viz., $33 per month). Under the Government scale, such a man would receive as pension $22 per month, though an additional $7.33 per month might be allowed him for "the constant services of an attendant" if in the opinion of the authorities this was necessary, making a total pension of $29.33 per month, but he would get this only if he were wounded "in action or in the presence of the enemy," which would put him in the "First Degree." If he received his injuries elsewhere, he would be put in the "Second Degree" and be entitled to a pension of only $16, with the possible addition of $5.33 for the services of an attendant, making a total of $21.33 per month on which to exist for the remainder of his life!

The Government allows the private soldier while on service $33 per month and everything necessary in the way of clothing, food and lodging, while his wife receives each month $20 separation allowance, $15 out of her husband's $33, and at least $5 from the Patriotic Fund. The wife, therefore, while her husband is on service, gets in all $40 per month to support herself, while the man has $18 per month in cash and all found.

In the changes necessary to be made in the present Government allowances to totally disabled men, those in the lower ranks (privates and non-commissioned officers) must have their pay increased, while the allowances to officers with the exception of Lieutenants, might be reduced if this is necessary to get the needed money for the lower ranks; of course, if there is money enough to pay the men adequately, and also the officers on a high scale, few would object.

The highest amount of pension a totally incapacitated private soldier with a wife, without children, can possibly draw under the existing Act is $29.33 for himself and $11 on account of his wife, a total of $40.33 per month ($484 per year).

The highest amount of pension a totally incapacitated Colonel with a wife, without children, can possibly draw under the existing Act is $160 for himself and $37.50 on account of his wife, a total of $197.50 per month ($2,370 per year).

Canada's Expeditionary Force is a volunteer army composed of men drawn from private life to serve only for the duration of the war and who will when the war is over return to their former occupations. It cannot therefore be compared with a regular professional army, the men and officers of which go into it as a business and a permanent occupation, the men drawn from one social class, the officers from a different one; a distinction maintained practically throughout the careers of both.

With us the situation is quite different. There are hundreds of men serving in the ranks of our forces who have given up prospects, positions, and opportunities, quite as important as those given up by men serving as officers, and whose work in private life is just as valuable to the country as that of men who happen to command them for the time being. There is little or no social distinction between many men serving as privates, and men serving as commissioned officers; all went to the front anxious only to do their duty in such positions as offered, the difference in rank being often merely an accident. There are plenty of instances of brothers, cousins and other relatives serving together, some in the ranks, and others in command. Under such circumstances it is surely unnecessary to make any very marked differences in the amounts of disablement allowances granted to the various grades of officers and men, certainly not to the extent which exists in the present Government scale. Australia, a democratic country, under labour government, in its pension list for totally disabled men, recognizes this condition and makes no such distinctions between the various ranks as we do.

There a colonel draws but two and three-quarters times as much as a private, while under our Government scale he draws five and a half times as much if all are equally wounded.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 185

It is, however, the underlying principle that is of importance rather than whether the amounts paid are too large or too small, or whether the variations between the ranks are justifiable or otherwise. These are matters to be settled by the Government after full consideration, the suggested figures, based on the Australian scale, given at the end of this report, being offered as a help rather than a solution.

Nevertheless, there is no use and no sense in giving men, so injured that they are incapable of earning a livelihood, a pension so small that it will not afford them the ordinary necessities of life. They will suffer enough as it is; to condemn them also to the miseries of insufficient means is unjust and unnecessary; it is uneconomical as well. It must never be forgotten that these men have given up for their country nearly all that makes life worth living. The country in return must treat them fairly—generously if possible—and this there is no doubt the country is willing to do; but equally there is no doubt that the effort will fail if the Pension Act remains in its present shape.

The English pension for totally disabled men is twenty-five shillings per week (about $26.32 per month) no difference being made as to whether a man is married or unmarried. For the first child there is an allowance of five shillings per week, for the second, three shillings and six pence, for all other children two shillings per week, each.

The American pension list gives $100 per month for all totally disabled men, and, for less than total disablement, a specific sum for each specific injury.

It would be an economy were the Government to make provision whereby all men who have lost a limb or part of a limb were furnished with an artificial substitute of the best manufacture, made and fitted at the earliest possible opportunity. Germany, is understood to be doing this, France is doing it, and probably England; but in any case, there can be no doubt that it would bring about excellent results, both for the man himself as well as for the Government—but especially for the man, for with such appliances he would be able to do work which otherwise he could not undertake. There should, in addition, be some provision by which men so injured as to be unable longer to follow their original trade or occupation, would be taught, systematically and thoroughly, some new trade, so that by it they could, in the future, support themselves and their families. A man who was a plasterer or bricklayer, could not if very severely lamed, well continue in either of such callings, but if under forty, and intelligent and fairly well educated, he might easily, if the Government would provide to teach him, and to support meanwhile both him and his family, become a proficient printer or cigar maker, or learn some other form of sedentary trade, and so, by his own efforts, eventually keep himself as comfortably by his new occupation, as he formerly did by his old one.

The selection of men suitable for such training would require much care and judgment, but would well repay the trouble. It cannot be insisted upon too strongly that the men must be taught a real trade, and taught it properly, so that they could apply for work as competent mechanics, able to fill positions satisfactorily; the country has no need and no place for ill-trained workmen.

To teach a man a new trade, or merely to find him a job on his return home, are two very different things, and should not be confused; the one aims so to set him on his feet that he can look after himself, the other is merely tiding over a temporary difficulty.

To turn out on society a lot of men who, through no fault of their own, are largely inefficient, and capable for the most part only of doing odd jobs, would be a very bad thing for the community, and the worst possible thing for the men; every effort should be made therefore, to put them back into the ranks of labour, well equipped and competent. It goes without argument that to get men as far as possible into such physical condition that they can earn a livelihood by their own efforts, is by far the best way of assisting them.

6 GEORGE V, A. 1916

It is possible that a good many people are disposed to think that the problem of providing for disabled soldiers can be solved by the establishment of Soldiers' Homes. No doubt, in due time, such Homes will be established. But this will not solve the whole problem. They would be of use only for single men. The breaking up of a family by sending the father to live in a Home, perhaps far away, is not to be thought of. Moreover, even if this were done, some provision would have to be made for his wife and children.

Another plan, which some have had in mind, is that the inadequate pension now contributed by the Government should be augmented by means of public subscriptions. Such action, however, would be a mistake in every way. It would be an admission that the Government of Canada is unwilling properly to maintain the wounded and disabled soldiers who have made the utmost sacrifice to serve and defend the Empire. It would, besides, place upon a portion of the community a burden which should be borne by the whole. There would arise, moreover, a tendency to regard it as a charity, whereas the payment of a pension honourably earned is a matter of public justice. It is, therefore, necessary to state with emphasis, that the duty of supporting the disabled men should, and must, be undertaken solely by the Government, and that whatever is necessary for this purpose must be paid out of the revenues of the country.

We should at once face the fact, that while the burden will be cheerfully undertaken by a grateful country, it will not be a light one. It could not be left to the chances of public appeals from time to time on behalf of men who have established a permanent right to public support. For twenty, thirty, forty, and, in some cases, even for fifty years, this support must be given, and it must be drawn from a source absolutely stable and secure. We owe our defenders no less than this. We must save them from both the humiliation and the uncertainty of public charity, and give them permanent and adequate security from want, paid them not as a favour, but as a right, for it would be an unpardonable insult to a body of brave men if the payment of a pension carried with it the faintest trace of charity or the least suspicion of patronage.

Surely it is not fanciful to suggest that there is laid upon us who are not in the firing line an obligation real and definite to dedicate ourselves, to the extreme limit of our ability, to taking care of the men and of the families of those on whose protection and sacrifices we are now depending for our national existence.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 185

The following is copied from the Government Act:—

APPENDIX E.

CANADIAN PENSIONS AND DISABLEMENT ALLOWANCES.

April, 1915.

591. The following rates of pension will be granted Militiamen wounded or disabled on active service, during drill or training, or on other military duty, provided the disability was not due to his own fault or negligence.

(a) The first degree shall be applicable to those only who are rendered totally incapable of earning a livelihood as the result of wounds or injuries received or illness contracted in action, or in the presence of the enemy.

(b) The second degree shall be applicable to those who are rendered totally incapable of earning a livelihood as a result of injuries received or illness contracted on active service, during drill or training or on other duty; or are rendered materially incapable as a result of wounds or injuries received or illness contracted in action or in the presence of the enemy.

(c) The third degree shall be applicable to those who are rendered materially incapable of earning a livelihood, as a result of injuries received or illness contracted on active service, during drill or training, or on other duty; or rendered in a small degree incapable as a result of wounds or injuries received, or illness contracted in action or in the presence of the enemy.

(d) The fourth degree shall be applicable to those who are rendered in a small degree incapable of earning a livelihood as a result of injuries received or illness contracted on active service, during drill or training, or on other duty.

(e) Where the injury is great enough to require the constant services of an attendant, such as the loss of both legs or both arms, or the loss of sight of both eyes, or where the use of both legs or both arms has been permanently lost, the rates shown in columns, 1st degree and 2nd degree, may be increased one-third.

(f) In addition to the above rates, a married officer, warrant officer, non-commisioned officer, or man, totally incapacitated, may draw for his wife half the rate provided in article 592, for the widow and the full rate for the children of an officer, etc.,

of his rank, subject to the limitations respecting the age of children. After the death of the officer, the widow may then draw the full rates provided in article 592 for widows and children.

(g) The widowed mother of a totally disabled soldier may be granted a pension at half the rates fixed in article 592, for a widow, provided the soldier is her sole support and unmarried. In the event of the soldier's decease, she may draw the full rate referred to.

592. Pensions may be paid to the widows and children of those who have been killed in action, or who have died from injuries received, or illness contracted on active service, during drill or training, or on other military duty, at the following rates: provided the soldier's death was not due to his own fault or negligence and was clearly due to the carrying out of his military duties:—

Rank held by Husband, Son, or Father at time of death.

Rank and file	$22 a month for widow and $5 a month for each child.
Sergeant	$28 a month for widow and $5 a month for each child.
Squad, Batt. or Col.-Sergeant	$30 a month for widow and $5 a month for each child.
Major	$30 a month for widow and $5 a month for each child.
Squad, Batt. or Q.M.-Sgt.
Colour-Sergeant
Staff-Sergeant
Reg'l Sergeant-Major, not W.O.	$30 a month for widow and $5 a month for each child.
Master Gunner, not W.O.
Reg'l Q.M.-Sergeant
Warrant Officer	$32 a month for widow and $5 a month for each child.
Lieutenant	$37 a month for widow and $6 a month for each child.
Captain	$45 a month for widow and $7 a month for each child.
Major	$50 a month for widow and $8 a month for each child.
Colonel (Lieut.)	$60 a month for widow and $10 a month for each child.
Colonel	$75 a month for widow and $10 a month for each child.
Brig.-General	$100 a month for widow and $10 a month for each child.

(a) A widowed mother whose only son was her sole support, and unmarried, shall be eligible for pension as a widow without children, and subject to the same conditions as hereinafter set forth.

(b) In the case of orphans, the rates shown above for children may be doubled, and the pension paid to legally appointed guardians.

593. Pensions to widows and children shall take effect from the day following that on which the death of the husband, etc., occurred, and a gratuity equivalent to two months' pension shall be paid the first month, in addition to the pension.

594. The pension of a widow, a widowed mother, or child may be withheld or discontinued should such widow, etc., be or subsequently prove, unworthy of it, or should she be or become wealthy.

The decision of the minister as to whether a pension should be so withheld or discontinued shall be final.

595. The pension to a widow or widowed mother shall cease upon her remarriage, but she will be eligible for a gratuity of two years' pension payable to her immediately after her marriage.

596. Neither gratuity nor pension shall be paid on account of a child (or orphan) over fifteen years of age, if a boy, or over seventeen years of age, if a girl, unless owing to mental or physical infirmity, the child (or orphan) is incapable of earning a livelihood, in which case the pension may be continued till the child (or orphan) is twenty-one years of age, but no pension will be paid to a child or orphan after marriage.

597. Individual cases for which the Regulations do not provide or sufficiently provide, may be specially considered by the Governor in Council.

598. Pensions may be paid monthly in advance.

MEMORANDUM UPON THE CIVIL WAR PENSIONS EVIL IN THE UNITED STATES AND THE MEANS ADOPTED TO ARREST THE EVIL IN CONNECTION WITH SUBSEQUENT CAMPAIGNS AND THEIR BEARING UPON GREAT BRITAIN AND HER DOMINIONS BY LIEUT.-COL. J. G. ADAMI, F.R.S., C.A.M.C.

The pension evil in the United States is notorious; the burden placed deliberately upon the revenues of the country is scarce believable. To-day, fifty years after the conclusion of the Civil War, the country is still paying out over 150,000,000 dollars (£30,000,000) per annum to the survivors of the Federal Army, the widows and other dependants of those who fought upon the northern side, those who claim to have fought and those who claim to be dependents of the same. In the fifty years since the war ended the United States has paid out to these 4,500,000,000 dollars (£900,000,000).

There were rather more than 2,000,000 soldiers engaged upon the northern, pensionable, side during the four years 1862 to 1865, so that the numbers compare fairly with the British Expeditionary Forces of to-day.

It is difficult to imagine that Great Britain will be confronted with a similar evil, nevertheless the signs of the times indicate that steps must be taken to guard against it. A study of the Pensions legislation and of the growth of this huge burden upon the country, such as the writer made in Washington at the beginning of April, showed that two closely allied factors were essentially responsible. These are:—

(i) The banding together of the old, discharged, soldiers of the Civil War into a union, or association, the Grand Army of the Republic, a body with a central organization at Washington, a subordinate staff of officers in each state forming a statutory state organization and branches or lodges in each city and county.

(II) The capture of the vote.—In other words so strong and well organized has been the Grand Army of the Republic that the votes of the old soldiers and those dependent upon them have been sufficient to turn the scale at elections. From this it follows that the “outs” whether Republican or Democrat have consistently promised still more favourable pension legislation, and the “ins,” not to be beaten, have either concurred or “gone one better.” It is admitted that the “Pension Committee” of seven members of the Grand Army working upon this state of affairs has written all the pension legislation of the last forty years; in fact Congress tacitly recognizes this Committee as the supreme legislative power in pension matters.

WHAT HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED.

Some indications may be given of what has been accomplished:—

A British soldier is granted a pension for two causes only, either length of service or permanent disability. For such disabilities an English Captain is granted £100, an American private £120 (600 dollars). The maximum pension granted to a British private is (I believe) £3.10.0 per month, to a Statesian private, a survivor of the Civil War, £20 per month.

In 1879 a law was passed granting arrearages to all original invalid pensioners, i.e. they were to receive the amount of full pensions to date not, as previously, from the time when the pension was granted but from the day of infliction of their disability, if they made application before the first of June, 1881. As a result pension expenditure rose from $33,000,000 in 1879 to $55,000,000 in 1880.

In 1888 the same principle was applied to all widows’ pensions. A widow whose husband died in 1863 if she applied in 1915 would be granted arrearage of full pay for fifty-two years.

Prior to 1890 pensions were only granted to those disabled while in service. By the law of June, 1890, every disabled soldier could qualify irrespective of whether the disability was acquired in service or not. Old age now became an adequate claim for pension. As a result the expenditure rose from $86,000,000 in 1890 to $157,000,000 in 1893. From 1890 onwards for many years a force of 200 clerks was employed at the Pensions Bureau, collating documents and investigating claims.

With all this there were frauds on a gigantic scale; the evolution of a professional class of claims agents, unscrupulous lawyers who forged documents and divided pension grants with successful applicants; claims doctors who made out false medical certificates; forgery, perjury, pensions drawn after death, personation of widows, concealment of marriage, illicit relationships maintained in place of marriage, these were all rampant. A Canadian colleague has reported to me the case of a woman in his district whom he exposed, who married and buried three Civil War survivors in succession and for long years drew widow's pensions for all three.

Finally the scandal became so great that with relief the Sherman law was passed by Congress, granting pensions to every surviving participant in the Civil War, whether disabled or whole, and to their dependents.

The pension disbursements reached a maximum in 1913—$176,714,907--this sum including some $15,000,000 for pensioners in the Spanish-American war and other sources.

WHAT MAY HAPPEN IN GREAT BRITAIN AND HER DOMINIONS.

These data are recorded, because they bear upon possible developments among our own people:—

(I) With the powerful hold that trades unionism has taken upon Great Britain, Canada and Australia, it is not merely probable but certain that within a few years after the conclusion of the war a strong association of old soldiers will be formed. The main bulk of our present troops will be relegated into private life; very many will find it difficult to return to their previous occupations; either their places will have been taken, or they will no longer be as capable and adept as before; there will be an inevitable tendency to band together to improve their condition; an equally inevitable tendency to claim support from the public funds.

(II) This body will be sufficiently large, and sufficiently widely distributed to exert, both in Great Britain and her Dominions, the same deleterious influence upon political parties that the Grand Army of the Republic exerts in the United States.

(III) Hitherto the British peoples have been unacquainted with the granting of pensions upon a large scale. With the new Insurance legislation this is no longer true. The familiarization with old age and disability pensions makes it additionally certain that there will within a very short time be a popular move to increase and extend army pensions.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The country must be prepared to meet this movement in advance; it cannot afford any additional heavy tax upon its resources, it can at most be just, but not generous.

Hitherto the Governors of Chelsea Hospital have quietly and with the greatest efficiency controlled the pensioning of the Army in Great Britain.

Now it becomes a question whether they form a sufficiently strong and sufficiently recognized body to withstand the influences which will be brought to bear. If they be continued as the Central Authority they will need strong legislative support in advance.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 185

Is it possible to elevate this matter of Army and Navy Pensions outside and above politics, to gain now, before the end of the war, an agreement to this effect between His Majesty's Government and the Opposition, i.e. to form a central body—whether with the Chelsea Governors as a nucleus or no—upon which the leaders of both parties are equally represented with the pledged agreement on the part of both parties that the Government of the time being shall not as a Government accept or favour any pensions legislation which has not the approval of this central body?

Failing an agreement of this nature it might well be recommended that before the conclusion of the war a non-contentious measure be brought into the House by His Majesty's Government, after consultation with the leaders of the Opposition in which the principles governing Army and Navy pensions shall be clearly laid down and certain existing anomalies, both of extent and manner of payment be removed. The existence of such an Act consolidating the practice and enunciating the principles which should govern pension legislation, would do much to arrest mischievous efforts in the future.

THE PREVENTION OF PENSION FRAUDS.

The bitter experience in the United States, led their Army Departments at the time of the Spanish-American war to take certain steps, which have been most successful, in arresting false claims, personation, and similar evils, and the measures then introduced might well be adopted in the British Army.

MUSTER-OUT CERTIFICATES.

It is well that the records of each individual soldier be made so thorough as to preclude doubts as to the state of his health and ability on leaving service after the war.

Studying the records of individual soldiers of the Civil War, preserved at Washington, it is impossible not to be impressed by the fact that, both as regards identification of the individual, and as regards the individual medical records, there were many defects, making it comparatively easy for claims agents to present a case for disabilities, and rendering substitution not difficult. These defects in 1898 were met successfully by the establishment of a "Muster-Out" examination so that now the Adjutant-General's Office possesses a full and authoritative record of the state of health of each individual soldier when he leaves the service. A single sheet containing the necessary details is filed away with the other papers bearing upon each individual soldier. This sheet contains:—

(1) A declaration of the person to be mustered out of service, or discharged, signed by him in the presence of a witness, and dated.

(2) A certificate of the Company Commander or other immediate Commanding Officer, bearing upon his knowledge of the disabilities of the person who signed the foregoing declaration.

(3) A duly signed certificate of the examining surgeon.

These three certificates may be described more in detail:—

I.—Certificate of Soldier Mustered Out.

The soldier to be "mustered out" is requested to declare:—

(1) Have you any reason to believe that at the present time you are suffering from the effects of any wound, injury, or disease, or that you have any disability or impairment of health, whether incurred in the military service or otherwise?

- (2) If so, describe the disability, stating the nature and location of the wound, injury or disease.
- (3) When was the disability incurred?
- (4) Where was the disability incurred?
- (5) State the circumstances, if known, under which the disability was incurred.

The declaration is as follows:—

I declare that the foregoing questions and my answers thereto have been read over to me, and that I fully understand the questions, and that my replies to them are true in every respect and are correctly recorded.

Signature of the Witness.

Date. Signature of individual.

II. The certificate of the Company Commander is also in the form of question and answer.

(1) Do you know, or have you any reason to believe, aside from his own statement, that the person who made and signed the foregoing declaration is disabled or impaired in health, at the present time, by reason of any wound, injury, or disease, whether incurred in the military service of the United States or otherwise?

(2) If so, describe the disability, stating the nature and location of the wound, injury, or disease, so far as known.

(3) When was the disability incurred?

(4) Where was the disability incurred?

(5) State the circumstances, if known, under which the disability was incurred.

(6) Was the disability incurred in line of duty?

I certify that the foregoing statement is correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Signed and dated.

III. The certificate of the Examining Surgeon is:—

(1) Have you subjected the person named above to a thorough physical examination?

(2) Do you find that at the present time he has any disability, whether incurred in the military service or not?

(3) If any disability is found to exist, describe the character and seat of the wound or injury, or the nature of the disease.

(4) State whether, in your opinion, the disability originated in the line of duty in the military service of the United States.

(5) Is the disability permanent?

(6) To what extent does the disability disqualify him for the performance of manual labour?

I certify that the foregoing statement is correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Signed and dated.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 185

If there be any disagreement between the statement of the individual soldier and the certificate of the medical officer, the Army regulations demand that the case be brought before a medical board, and the findings of that medical board are attached and filed away with the "Muster-out" certificate.

IDENTIFICATION.

I beg respectfully to submit that in the medical sheets of the physical examination of recruits, the space afforded and the directions given in the matter of identification marks are painfully inadequate. The United States arrangements are much more thorough.

Prior to 1906, each physical examination sheet bore an outline of the human figure both front and back view, upon which the examining medical officer indicated by small crosses the exact position of the various marks of identification. Since 1906 there has been introduced in addition the method of identification by finger marks, according to the Bertillon System, and, further, each examination sheet bears a photograph of the individual, of regulation size, in profile and full face. This is taken by the examining officer as a necessary part of the examination. The simple apparatus needed for making the finger marks, and the regulation camera and screens, are provided to each examining officer. That for taking finger prints, which is very simple, consists of a form-holder, ink plate, a tube of printer's ink, and a roller for spreading the ink on the plate. Impressions are taken of a complete series of individual finger tips of each hand, each finger being recorded separately, and with this, in addition, there is a plain impression of the four fingers taken simultaneously, of each hand. A full description is given in Circular No. 44 of the War Department, Washington, dated August 6, 1906. These physical examination sheets of recruits are in every instance sent up the same day to headquarters at Washington, and through a perfect system of classification, I was assured by the Adjutant-General (Major-General MacCain) that in ten minutes the record could be put in its proper place in the series, and it could be determined whether the individual is a re-enlisted man. The system has been found especially valuable in tracing soldiers found drowned without clothes, etc., and further it is recommended that burial parties in time of war, shall carry with them a simple apparatus for making finger prints and shall enclose the record in a small bottle to be buried along with the body so that in case of re-interment from the field of battle, the finger prints will afford identification, when a cross or other identification marks placed above ground, would be liable to be destroyed. (For other data see Appendix.)

REMARKS.

It is clearly impossible to introduce this system at the present moment for any entering service for the present war, but to prevent fraud and substitution it is urged that an identification sheet affording all these data be attached as a matter of routine to the "Muster-out" medical sheet.

APPENDIX I.

The last report of the Adjutant-General, U.S.A., epitomizes the state of Finger Print Identification in the United States Army.

To the end of the last fiscal year 291,181 finger print records had been made. Of these 88,937 were cases of re-enlistment.

Several cases were discovered in which the finger print record established beyond doubt that the man presenting a discharge certificate was not the individual to whom that certificate had been granted.

During the year 467 cases of fraudulent enlistment of former deserters, general prisoners and others were discovered by means of the system.

Dead men, former soldiers, were identified when no other identification was possible.

Civil offenders were detected seeking to evade arrest by enlistment under assumed names.

By means of impressions left of their finger marks soldiers were detected who had committed crimes.

SUGGESTIONS RECEIVED FROM CORRESPONDENTS.

1. It is suggested by a correspondent that pension administration should be delegated to an independent commission, whose members should be appointed for life, and like the Railway Commission, removable only for cause shown. They should have plenary and final power subject only to the laws and regulations to be established.

2. A further suggestion is that a correct conception of the principles of pensions should be established at the outset. Pensions should be regarded not at all as a reward for services, but as a method of placing those who have suffered an impairment or disability on a footing where they may compete for a living on equal terms and without handicap with those of their fellows who have suffered no disability by reason of their services.

3. Another correspondent suggests that the best analogy for the establishment of a proper pensions system is to be found in the principle of the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Act. War is a social risk appertaining to the business of maintaining the State and the risk should be distributed so far as possible equally among all those engaged in the business—which means, among all Canadians. The Board administering the Workmen's Compensation Act and its regulations will afford suggestions for a Pensions Commission. Other suggestive sections of this Act are those providing compensation to persons acquiring a dependency upon an incapacitated man subsequent to his incurring the disability and providing compensation for illegitimate children.

4. Again, it is suggested that it would be preferable to have more grades of pensions than existing law provides.

5. It is also suggested that the degrees of incapacity on which pensions are scaled should be described according to percentages of capacity for labour, instead of, as at present, by phrases such as "totally incapable," "materially incapable," and "in a small degree incapable."

6. It is suggested that there should be a lawyer on the Board of Commission.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 185

7. The suggestions of another correspondent are:

- (a) An absolutely independent Pensions Board should be established.
- (b) Permanent medical boards should be established to determine the degree of disability.
- (c) The Pensions Board should employ some one who has had large experience—with a life insurance company, for instance—in the art of keeping and indexing large numbers of records.
- (d) It is most important that finger prints should be secured of all men who are granted pensions or examined. Substitutes will always be ready to step fraudulently into the places of pensioners who die.

(a) The first degree shall be applicable to those only who are rendered totally incapable of earning a livelihood as the result of wounds or injuries received or illness contracted in action, or in the presence of the enemy.

(b) The second degree shall be applicable to those who are rendered totally incapable of earning a livelihood as a result of injuries received or illness contracted on Active Service, during drill or training or on other duty; or are rendered materially incapable as a result of wounds or injuries received or illness contracted, in action or in the presence of the enemy.

(c) The third degree shall be applicable to those who are rendered materially incapable of earning a livelihood, as a result of injuries received or illness contracted on Active Service, during drill or training, or on other duty; or rendered in a small degree incapable as a result of wounds or injuries received, or illness contracted in action or in the presence of the enemy.

(d) The fourth degree shall be applicable to those who are rendered in a small degree incapable of earning a livelihood as a result of injuries received or illness contracted on Active Service, during drill or training, or on other duty.

(e) Where the injury is great enough to require the constant services of an attendant, such as the loss of both legs or both arms or the loss of sight of both eyes; or where the use of both legs or both arms has been permanently lost, the rates shown in columns "1st Degree" and "2nd Degree" may be increased one-third.

(f) In addition to the above rates, a married officer, warrant officer, non-commissioned officer, or man, totally incapacitated may draw for his wife half the rate provided in Article 592 for the widow and the full rate for the children of an officer, etc., of his rank, subject to the limitations respecting the age of children. After the death of the officer, the widow may then draw the full rates provided in Article 592 for widows and children.

(g) The widowed mother of a totally disabled soldier may be granted a pension at half the rates fixed in Article 592 for a widow, provided the soldier is her sole support and unmarried. In the event of the soldier's decease, she may draw the full rate referred to.

592. Pensions may be paid to the widows and children of those who have been killed in action, or who have died from injuries received, or illness contracted on Active Service, during drill or training, or on other military duty, at the following rates; provided the soldier's death was not due to his own fault or negligence, and was clearly due to the carrying out of his military duties.

Captain	$45 a month for widow and $7 a month for each child.
Major	$50 a month for widow and $8 a month for each child.
Lieut.-Colonel	$60 a month for widow and $10 a month for each child.
Colonel	$75 a month for widow and $10 a month for each child.
Brig.-General	$100 a month for widow and $10 a month for each child.

(a) A widowed mother whose only son was her sole support, and unmarried, shall be eligible for a pension as a widow without children, and subject to the same conditions as hereinafter set forth.

(b) In the case of orphans, the rates shown above for children may be doubled, and the pension paid to legally appointed guardians.

593. Pensions to widows and children shall take effect from the day following that on which the death of the husband, etc., occurred, and a gratuity equivalent to two months' pension shall be paid the first month, in addition to the pension.

594. The pension of a widow, a widowed mother, or child may be withheld or discontinued should such widow, etc., be or subsequently prove, unworthy of it, or should she be or become wealthy.

The decision of the Minister as to whether a pension should be so withheld or discontinued shall be final.

595. The pension to a widow or widowed mother shall cease upon her re-marriage, but she will be eligible for a gratuity of two years' pension payable to her immediately after her marriage.

596. Neither gratuity nor pension shall be paid on account of a child (or orphan) over fifteen years of age, if a boy, or over seventeen years of age, if a girl, unless owing to mental or physical infirmity, the child (or orphan) is incapable of earning a livelihood, in which case the pension may be continued till the child (or orphan) is twenty-one years of age, but no pension will be paid to a child or orphan after marriage.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 185

597. Individual cases for which the Regulations do not provide or sufficiently provide, may be specially considered by the Governor in Council.

598. Pensions may be paid monthly in advance.

NOTE.—The foregoing Regulations re Canadian Militia Pay and Allowances were made applicable to the officers and soldiers of the Canadian Overseas Expeditionary Forces and to their widows, children, etc., and to take effect from the 1st day of September, 1914. See Sessional Papers, No. 150, March 3, 1916 (P.C. 887).

CERTIFIED Copy of a Report of the Committee of the Privy Council approved by His Royal Highness the Governor General on the 25th December, 1915.

The Committee of the Privy Council have had before them a report, dated December 13, 1915, from the Minister of Militia and Defence, submitting for consideration copy of a letter received from the President, Pension Board, England, in which the suggestion is made that the Board be authorized to award gratuities not exceeding $100 to men who, though only slightly incapacitated, are unfit for further service in the field and have been recommended for discharge.

It is represented that this gratuity would be in lieu of a short term pension and would enable the Board and Chief Paymaster, Overseas, to effect speedily a final settlement with such men whose cases must, otherwise, be referred to the Pensions Board, Ottawa, thus causing long delays.

The Minister recommends that the suggestions of the President, Pension Board, England, be approved and that the Board be empowered to award gratuities not exceeding $100 in cases where the men are not disabled sufficiently for pension, but who nevertheless will be more or less disabled for a period after their discharge.

P. C. 2813.

CERTIFIED Copy of a Report of the Committee of the Privy Council, approved by His Royal Highness the Governor General on the 16th December, 1915.

The Committee of the Privy Council have had before them a report, dated November 29, 1915, from the Minister of Militia and Defence, stating that there have been several cases of insanity among the men of the Overseas Forces invalidated home, and that these men have been sent to their respective Provincial Asylums for care and treatment.

The Minister recommends that the charges made by these institutions for care and treatment of such patients be paid by the Government as long as the patients are kept at these institutions, and that as regards pay, allowances and pension to such soldiers, and their dependents, the following Regulations be approved:—

(a) Unmarried Soldiers without Dependents.

No pay, allowances or pension will be granted if it is a case of permanent insanity. If it is a case of temporary insanity, pay of rank will be allowed the soldier while cared for in such institution, but same will not be paid him until he is discharged therefrom. The period for which such pay is granted shall not exceed six months.

(b) Married Soldiers and Sons of Widowed Mothers.

Assigned Pay and Separation Allowance will be continued the dependents while the soldier is undergoing treatment. If it is a temporary case only balance of pay will be issued the soldier on discharge. If, however, the case is considered incurable the soldier will be detained at the Asylum, but will be discharged from the Force, and balance of pay due him will be paid his wife or mother, as the case may be, and the claims of these latter for pension will be considered as if the soldier were dead.
